Secretary of Appropriation Committee Erased the Word.

From the Article as Presented at the Town Meeting.

Herbert W. Searles, secretary of appropriation committee, on examination of his minutes, finds that the word "raise" was erased by him from the article on hydrants at the meeting of the committee by direction of the chairman, Hon. James H. Thompson.

Information to this effect was not obtained until the article of the first page of current Gazette had been printed.

"LADIES NIGHT" AT CENTURY CLUB.

Entertain Duets, Discuss "Monroe Doctrine."

On Friday evening, Jan. 31, there was gathered together in the parlors of the Century Club, one of the most elegant parties in the history of this club. The committee in charge of the affair had labored zealously to make it a success and what it lacked in numbers was overcome by the enthusiasm of the ladies who responded to the invitation.

The Columbia club of East Weymouth had been invited to attend, with their ladies as special guests of the occasion, and about twenty-five were present to add to the interest.

The chairman was present, Hon. James H. Thompson, and the committee.

After the entertainment, the meeting was opened with a short talk by Rev. Mr. Henry J. Wadsworth, Miss Julia A. Hogan and Miss Mary E. Purcell. As they were introduced, two little girls in white, Jessie Sullivan and Oliver Newell, passed out of the room.

NO DEFICIT.
Su Says Secretary Sears.

Letter of Explanation From the Secretary of the Appropriation Committee.

By intention has been added to an article on the first page of last week's Gazette in which it is claimed a mistake has been made by some one and a deficit in the amount of $7,800 has been made in the amount raised and appropriated by the State for the year 1890.

This article states that town officials presumably those who should be in a position to know the facts, have been interviewed and asked for their opinion. The views and opinions of the facts or happenings that have led to this mistake.

There is an official record of regular negotiations, there is much interest that the nature of things, they can be let you know.

It is the opinion of the Secretary of the Appropriation Committee, should have been written "raise and appropriate" and that by the erasure of the word "raise" no funds have been provided by the town for this appropriation, not a cent.

It is the opinion of the Secretary that the amount appropriated by a statement of the plain simple facts about the matter, which may be given as follows:

The town of Weymouth received each year from the State a sum of money called for by the State and paid to the town for the state corporation tax, and also a smaller amount for the national bank tax, also some small amounts from interest on money deposited in national bank directly appropriated to the town directly appropriated to any of the town departments. This is a source of income to the town and should be reckoned on and appropriated to some portion of the town's expenses.

In making up the amount the committee on appropriations will recommend to be raised and appropriated by the town for the ensuing year—it is the custom to make an estimate of the probable amount of income from the corporation and national bank tax, and then to add to this amount the amount recommended and to make a motion through the secretary of the committee to appropriate this amount to some articles in the warrant at the annual town meeting. This would be done for years as the town records will show.

In March, 1883, the committee made an estimate, based on the report of the town treasurer for 1884, as follows:

Probable amount to be received from State corporation tax ..... $5,750.02
National Bank tax ..... 1,000.00
Total ..... 375.00

Total ..... $7,500.13

It was the opinion of the committee that the amount might be a little smaller this year and then considered that $7,000 would be a safe amount to appropriate. The question then arose as to how to appropriate this amount and as Article 23, in relation to hydrants, valid for this exact amount, it was decided to recommend to appropriate this article and to the committee.

At the next meeting of the town it was decided to appropriate this amount to the hydrants. It was explained to the fact by Messrs. Thomas Humpreys and A. J. Richards of the Board of Water Commissioners, to which department the amount appropriated for hydrants and the amount appropriated for fire hydrants and fire hoses, and it was explained to the chairman and secretary of the committee that the motion intended to appropriate from the income of the town and not to raise and appropriate by taxation, and that the amount appropriated for hydrants was for the full understanding of the whole question.

Mr. Bachelder married Miss Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bachelder, on January 21, 1885, and their home was a very happy one, full of friends and pleasant relations, we can say that no one could more universally interest himself in the welfare of the town than did Mr. Bachelder. The Ladies' Patriotic orchestra of Boston has been engaged for him and the best efforts of the committee will be put forward to have the dace one of the pleasantest of the season.

FARM GARDEN

A HELPFUL DEVICE.

Convenient For Lifting the Curves When Dressing a Beet.

A tripod illustrated by Rural New Worker deserves attention as a good substitute for the rollers and windlass and other conveniences of the slaughter pen. This tripod is formed of three straight poles, 14 feet long, with a diameter of about 5 inches at the larger end. These are joined near the upper end by a five-much less expensive may be used. The illustration will show. I might add that the poles should be made to fit the beams of the house in a way to make them hug the cellar wall tightly at their lower extremity, which should be below the surface of the ground outside. This is the way the old fashioned lathe and the wheel plow, the plastering meeting the rockwork tightly below the lathe. This gives an air space between the underpinning and the plastering, through which frost cannot pass, and the cellar is made lighter and more attractive.

Thousands of old cellar that now give their owners no little trouble in the winter, could thus be easily made frost proof. The old wheel plow, the lathe and the like, while giving the same service, will still afford also a much warmer and more comfortable home above the ground floor. One need not fear that he will have his cellar too warm, for the heat will be conducted to the surface of the earth, and when the temperature is to be able to control the temperature, and this cannot be done if frost and wind have easy access.

Another Stamp Puller.

A Maine correspondent of Rural New Worker, who has actually pulled a great many stamps in clearing a farm of 50 acres, writes:

A really practical thing is simply a stout rope 80 or 100 feet long—a hay fork rope is just the thing. Cut a strong, hard wood lever 8 or 10 feet long; tie the rope to the top end, then set the lever upright against the stamp and fasten with a chain near the top of the stamp. Put the team at the end of the rope where the draft will be nearly level and over it will be fast to each end of the lever, the diagonal of each side and cutting a few rods will break it out. The accompanying sketch shows what I mean. When the work is very heavy, I use blocks, the lever side chain to a solid stump in the ground.

When the stump has been killed and partially skinned, the tripod is set up with the outer pole to the rear and the inner pole to the other front. The pointed ends of the poles are inserted under the large tendon just above the hook joint, and when these are lashed together in a horizontal line, a handspike is driven through the outer pole, about 6 inches in diameter and 34 inches long, from shoulder to shoulder. Six inches additional at each end are fastened to the other end of the outer pole and is nearly 8 inches in diameter. The pins for the ropes are 8 inches apart, and between these pins two holes are bored through the outer pole at right angles to each other and a few inches apart, in which handspikes are driven. The handspike is made of hard wood, about 6 inches in diameter and 34 inches long, from shoulder to shoulder.
